

Your Naked Girlfriend, Missing You this is a story just to show my emotional overflow since we met on holidays in spain I wished we neednt split up again with you by my side I felt secure could trust on you, that was sure but our time didnt run slow holidays were over so I had to go when I had to leave

it was like you were dying I waved you good-bye
and nearly started crying
I will never see you again different town and unknown name now Im alone, I remember the days for a short time we went the same ways since the moment when our friendship began we felt in love and had a lot of fun in the nights weve been at the beach today I cant accept that youre out of reach we watched to the stars, I held your hand but now Ive to put up with the end

when I had to leave
it was like you were dying
I waved you good-bye
and nearly started crying
I will never see you again
different town and unknown name