

Yukka, Trouble

We're both sitting here with nothing on our minds
With every step I fear I'm wasting your precious time
We've got the same trouble
Written down in different lines

See, you hide from the crowd I jump into
And you scream at the walls I run into
But in the end when all is done and said
I need you

So come into my house
And take off all your clothes
You know I love to see
The way your body glows
Safe but never sure
I just don't know you anymore

When your eyes are slowly gone.