

Yuriko, The Boy With Nails In His Eyes

frailty circles the sultry little child words have crushed him once more doomed to loose this tug-of-war that his hands hold no end. weeping he's pulled in circles these circles of frailty that surround him and all he can do is face the sea and loose his memories on one high-tide and he hears the ocean calling