

Yvonne Elliman, Sailing Ships

SAILING SHIPS

YVONE ELLIMAN

Trees stay green
the wind still blows
and leaves they gone
with the widening wind

Birds still fly
and dogs may whine
and life has been succeedly divine
with you , uh uh
you uhhh

Sailing ships fly the wind and breadth now you know they sail through away
to wave goodbye
wave good-bye my friend and I love you

I've still speak
they told not sweet
we no longer be together again for lovers part in time of strength when the love needs rest to go strong again

Sailing ships fight the wind
and breadth now you know
they sail through away
to wave goodbye
wave good-bye my friend and I love you

Love the heart that love makes grow
fill my heart with freedom song to sing when we are lone to love is to be forgiving

Sailing ships fight the wind
and breadth now you know
they sail through away
to wave goodbye
wave good-bye my friend I love you
I love you
I love you