

Yvonne, Moving Out (Album True Love (1999))

the lasting sound of a shrieking wind i'm taking my time by the subway train the ache in me from a night before i'm taking a ride to suburban plains i'm looking for a face to compare my ... only to find them staring back at me cruel is the morning that i face right now people and they're moving out oh my head

i'm coping with the ache and i see
i try hard to look alive

stepping out in a distant zone i'm taking my ride to suburban plains i couldn't care less if i miss the train i've never been here, but i know my way

oh my head
but i'm coping with the ache
and i see
i try hard to look alive

and i know
i've been here so many times yes i know i had deal just one more time can you hear me now and i'm always on your mind and you know how i've missed suburban rides (oh yeah)

the one that i miss
the one that i miss