

Zakk Wylde, Too Numb To Cry

I see you across the room
Search for some happiness, ain't anytime soon
Turmoil has turned you inside
Sift through your pages of miracles you wish to find
Chorus

When you're too numb to cry
And you're just left wondering "why?"
When you're too numb to cry
And you're just left wondering "why?"
To change in the blink of an eye
If you could you surely would wave yourself good-bye
I try and I try and I try
Got a hold on your suffering
Peace in which you don't wish to buy
When you're too numb to cry
And you're just left wondering "why?"
When you're too numb to cry
And you're just left wondering "why?"
why? why?