

Zebrahead, Blur

Did you ever get the feeling that you were all alone

And no one ever knew you and you never had a home

And the lights and the colors do their best to distract you

Fuck you. I don't even know why I like you

It's all a blur [x2]

Like a picture, it's all a blur

You don't know what you're missing

You don't know what you're missing

I've been trying so hard just to keep away

And now look where I am standing at today

Trying so hard to walk away

But it's impossible to watch you fade away

Did you ever stop believing after all was said and done?

When you turned to your friends but they were long gone

And the sky and the snapshots remind you

I trust you and I'm always going to miss you

It's all a blur, it's all a blur

Like a picture

Reminds me who you were

[Repeat Chorus]

Every time I see you look at me

I see those distant eyes and your looks are fading

Every time you're next to me

I want to talk and feel and act like we used to

Cause everybody knows and everybody cares

Until they're walking in my shoes

And now I know

It's you that I cannot lose

It's all a blur

And I owe you

You can take it all

When I call, pick up the phone like you used to

It's all a blur

It's all a blur

You're just a blur!

I've been trying so hard just to keep away

And now look where I am standing at today

Trying so hard to walk away

But it's impossible to watch you fade away

Trying, dying so hard

I've been denying that I'm not scarred

I've been crying, lying so far

But it's impossible to fill this space

Impossible to take your place

Impossible to watch you fade away

Watch you fade away [x3]
