

Zendaya, Something To Dance For

A dream like this not something to wish for
A dream like this not something to ask for When it's gift worth taking a chance for then this is something to dance for

Hey, yeah yeah,
Ooh this is something to dance for

There's a moment when you look to decide
Who will fall, who will survive
That's the moment when you find it inside
On the line, this is your time
And it's all I want and it's all I do

A dream like this not something to wish for
A dream like this not something to ask for
When it's a gift worth taking a chance for
Then this is something to dance for

Can you believe it?
Are you feeling alive?
Hit your mark
Ready to rise
Your body's aching but your heart doesn't mine
Feet on the ground
Eyes on the prize
And it's all I want and it's all I do

A dream like this not something to wish for
A dream like this not something to ask for
When it's a gift worth taking a chance for
Then this is something to dance for

A dream like this not something to wish for
A dream like this not something to ask for
When it's a gift worth taking a chance for
Then this is something to dance for

For the Love, for the fame, to bring down the rain
By the way that you feel when they're calling your name
For the days, nothing more it's just you on the floor
On this is something to dance for

A dream like this not something to wish for
A dream like this not something to ask for
When it's a gift worth taking a chance for...
Then this is something to dance for
