

Zero Down, Temptation

did it ever feel just right for you, have you ever wonder who we are,
pleasures in our life are fair and few, have you ever looked for something more this life, aint big enough, aint fair enough, some times we don't get to shine, I remember feeling owned by you, that I would never get make you mine

Don't tempt me, now I'm falling, to much water under that bridge,
the bullet aint the same with out you now, its turning

body get my conciseness and please leave me no room to breathe the strength cant find the heart that feels and you don't feel the same for me like a big professional, cool to the bone, is my pain what gets you off I really need to suffer underneath your hands as long as you don't stop

Don't tempt me, now I'm falling,
to much water under that bridge,
the bullet aint the same with out you now, not like I know what I took for granted it strapped me in the face falling from your favorite bitter flavor of disgrace distracted staring at me, my life it looks so real and you know where it sides inside when your suffering

Don't tempt me, now I'm falling,
to much water under that bridge,
the bullet aint the same with out you now,

Don't tempt me, now I'm falling,
to much water under that bridge,
the bullet aint the same with out you now,
