

Zinc, Zinc - Arrows At The Sun

God knows I've tried,
Compromising everything for the slightest possibility
That the stars will align,
And everything I ever dreamed will light up right in front of me,
But that day seems so far away.

Cause I want, I want, I want it so much I taste it on my tongue,
Although I know its just like shooting arrows at the sun,
I want, I want, I want it so bad I take it as it comes,
Although I know its just like shooting arrows at the sun.

I've lost so much,
Chasing the intangible, yet I remain insatiable,
It never stops,
Its dangling right in front of me, a million miles beyond my reach,
As phone lines and road signs go by
I wait for this day to subside,

Cause I want, I want, I want it so much I taste it on my tongue,
Although I know its just like shooting arrows at the sun,
I want, I want, I want it so bad I take it as it comes,
Although I know its just like shooting arrows at the sun.

But that day seems so far away

Cause I want, I want, I want it so much I taste it on my tongue,
Although I know its just like shooting arrows at the sun,
I want, I want, I want it so bad I take it as it comes,
Although I know its just like shooting arrows at the sun.

(I taste it on my tongue,)
(Im shooting arrows at the sun,)
(I want I want I want it so badly,)
(Well everything I ever dreamed will light up right in front of me someday.)
(A million miles beyond my reach.)
(God knows ive tried.)
