

Zombina And The Skeletones, Astroboy

I heard the news today
It seems like such a shame
The rocket ship is waiting
To take you away

Set apart from me
Across the galaxy
And though I cry
You just won't stay

The heavens are open for the lucky few
All my life I'll never find another love like you

There's no reason for
Your going away
I never even gave you
Cause for complaint

You said you'd see me 'round
But I won't take it lying down
But you'd never know
'Cause you're in space

Remember what I always say?
That I'd rather lie down and die than let you fly away
But now you've gone and thrown away all our dreams
Just remember, out in space, nobody can hear you scream

The heavens are open for the lucky few
All my life I'll never find another love like you
Another love like you
I got the astronaut boyfriend blues
